Domaine d'Evordes – History & General Information

A hidden gem just 15 minutes from Geneva city center, Domaine d'Evordes is a beautifully restored 18th-century country mansion with over 300 years of rich heritage. Surrounded by lush greenery and located at the foot of the Salève, it offers complete privacy in a semi-insulated setting—making it ideal for confidential meetings, executive retreats, and high-level gatherings. Formerly known as “Es-les-Vordes,” meaning “The Willows,” the property was once a thriving village largely destroyed during the wars of Henri IV. In the 18th century, the estate became the residence of the noble Fabri family, with the mansion most likely built by Piètre Fabri.

Over time, it passed through prestigious hands, including that of Dame Lullin in the early 1800s, whose family helped redefine the Swiss border following the Congress of Vienna. A monument to Swiss independence still stands near the property.

By the 20th century, Domaine d'Evordes gained recognition as a favorite venue for Geneva's equestrian elite, hosting cross-country events organized by the Société Hippique de l'Etrier. It was eventually restored in the 1990s and modernized with care, blending tradition, elegance, and contemporary comfort.
